

GETTING INVOLVED AT GEORGIA SOUTHWESTERN!

Get involved! That's the challenge you will hear over and over during your college career. And there is a good reason for that challenge. Becoming part of a student organization teaches you valuable leadership, and interpersonal skills not offered in the classroom. Marketable skills will give you an edge over others in the job market, and by joining an organization, will help aid you throughout your career. Not only will getting involved help you after college, but you will also make many incredible memories, and lifelong friends from your involvement and interaction with a diverse group of your peers. Getting involved at GSW is easy. All you have to do is take the first step. There is an organization to fit most anyone. If not... you can start your own! See the DSA for more details. Visit the Office of Student Life for more details on student organizations or for help in finding an organization that best suits your interests; email Mr. Joshua Curtin, Director of Campus Life at jcurtin@gsw.edu
